Questions for reflection and dialogue

1. What methodologies the activity provided that could be used in daily work processes?
2. What are the differences between the process of developing a product in real life in a team and between the process of developing your product in the team during the activity?
3. How would you describe your part in the team during the activity? (initiator, leader, maker, innovator, organizer etc..) Is it similar to the same part that you are usually taking during casual working processes?